DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:
 - I. Embodiment 1 described in page 15-29 in references to FIG. 2-4.
 - II. Embodiment 2 described in page 30-34 in references to FIG. 5.
 - III. Embodiment 3 described in page 30-34 in references to FIG. 6.
 - IV. Embodiment 4 described in page 30-34 in references to FIG. 7.
2. The species are independent or distinct because each embodiment discloses distinct variation of packet forwarding equipment.

In particular, Embodiment 1 utilizes translation of messages according to route translation module. Embodiments 2-4 utilizes other varies embodiments of inventions (per applicant specification page 14-15).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there is no generic claim.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

3. The following restriction is only applicable if the applicant elects specie of Embodiment I. If the embodiment I is not elected, please skip this paragraph.

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I A. Claims 1-5, drawn to a packet forwarding equipment that perform the translation and transmitting according to any-sources-multicast request from a client, as shown by FIG. 3, classified in class 370, subclass 432.

I B. Claim 6, drawn to a packet forwarding equipment that perform the detecting and generating according to source-specific-multicast query from a packet processing module, as shown by FIG. 4, classified in class 370, subclass 474.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions IA and IB are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombinations IA and IB have separate utility since subcombination IA as claimed (e.g. processing “any” source requests from client) does not require subcombination II as claimed (e.g. processing “specific” source query from an internal network processor), See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. A telephone call was made to Daniel J. Stranger on 3-19-2007 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
